

Architectural drawings of the Stefan Cristescu House, including a floor plan, a section, and a perspective view. The floor plan shows a rectangular building with a central corridor and several rooms. The section shows the building's profile with a gabled roof. The perspective view shows the building from a low angle, highlighting its modern design and large windows. The drawings are labeled with dimensions and room names.